

Fig. 13.2 Examples of bird species for whom Great Salt Lake and its wetlands provide significant habitat: (a) American avocet (Recurvirostra americana), (b) black-necked stilt (Himantopus mexicanus), (c) Wilson’s phalarope (Phalaropus tricolor), (d) marbled godwit (Limosa fedoa), (e) tundra swans (Cygnus columbianus), (f) snowy plover (Charadrius nivosus), (g) northern shoveler (Anas clypeata), (h) cinnamon teal (Anas cyanoptera), (i) green-winged teal (Anas carolinensis), and (j) redhead (Aythya americana). All images courtesy of Mia McPherson, On the Wing Photography, with permission